Gütt Olk Feldhaus appoints Adrian von Prittwitz as a partner

Munich, January 28, 2019 – Gütt Olk Feldhaus has appointed Adrian von Prittwitz as the first new partner from own ranks effective since January 1, 2019. Adrian von Prittwitz (36) advises national and international companies, financial investors and private clients on corporate law, M&A and capital markets law.

Adrian von Prittwitz has joined Gütt Olk Feldhaus in 2016 and has advised on many significant transactions since then, including most recently the sale of the online pharmacy medpex to DocMorris, the acquisition of a stake in the online bank N26 by Allianz as lead investor and the cooperation and joint venture of ZF Friedrichshafen AG with e.Go Mobile AG. Besides, Adrian also provides ongoing advice to listed companies and their corporate bodies on corporate and capital markets law aspects.

Prior to joining Gütt Olk Feldhaus, Adrian has worked for Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer in Hamburg for many years where he was focused on international M&A transactions as well as restructurings of listed companies.

Dr. Heiner Feldhaus commented: “We are delighted to welcome Adrian von Prittwitz as a new partner. Adrian has developed an excellent reputation among our clients for his brilliant work and he is a perfect fit to GOF in terms of scope of advice and personality. At the same time, Adrian’s partner promotion clearly underpins our strategy of aiming for organic growth.”
